HISTORY LESSON

The sitcom is set in the 1980s, but production designer Cory Lorenzen says some elements (that wallpaper!) purposely don't jibe: "It's meant to look as if the Goldbergs moved in 10 years prior but did some updating." Make way for a lacquered entertainment center!

TUNE IN!
The Goldbergs airs on ABC Wednesdays at 8:30 P.M.

SECRETS FROM THE SET

VCR? Yahtzee? Answering machine? Check, check and check!
 Tour The Goldbergs' totally '80s living room BY ERIC ANDERSSON

1 Lorenzen made thrift-store games look new by digitally scanning the boxes and printing fresh packaging.

2 Hayley Orrantia (a.k.a. daughter Erica) and her castmates handed over childhood photos to be modified (say, a color swap) and displayed.

3 To ensure electronics are period-correct, "we check manufacture dates," he says. This JVC VCR can still play E.T. and other VHS tapes! Some retro technology baffles the younger actors: "They walk in and don't know what the thing is."

4 Items in the room, like this crossword puzzle in progress or a magazine, suggest "a variety of tastes and interests," says Lorenzen. P.S.: 11 down is My Two Dads!
